Execution Factors

In taking all reasonable steps to obtain the best possible result for its clients, Aion Bank took into account various execution factors in deciding how and where to execute client orders including price, costs, speed, likelihood of execution and settlement, size, nature of the order and any other considerations relevant to the execution of an order.

To determine the relative importance and priority of these execution factors, Aion Bank used its commercial experience and judgement in addition to taking into account criteria relevant to best execution, such as the client's status as a retail client, the size and nature of the order, the characteristics of the financial instrument to which the order relates, as well as the possible execution venues to which that order can be directed.

Conflicts of interest & specific arrangements

Aion Bank has no conflicts of interest or close links with any of the venues or market participants that we conduct business with, nor do we have any specific arrangements with any of the venues or market participants regarding payments, discounts, rebates or other benefits received.

Policy Review & Quality of Execution

We review our best execution policy annually. We did not make any changes to brokers during 2019, but did make changes to the venues we traded on. Order execution is monitored pre- and post-trade on an ongoing basis and is subject to testing and evidencing against best execution factors. We conduct regular post-trade analytics to ensure our pre-trade evaluation is performant.

Customer categorisation

Aion Bank only conducts business with retail clients and therefore does not have any specific execution arrangements for other customer categories.
